2026 Club Championship

On Saturday, September 12, and Sunday, September 13, 18 players competed for the large glass trophy.
The weather was fair on Saturday. We started Sunday with some light drizzle, but the sun eventually broke through in the afternoon.
There was a remarkably high number of good scores. Even more notable was how often players managed to improve their performance over the course of the three rounds; many players finished Sunday afternoon with a lower score than they had posted on Saturday. It is also worth mentioning that Hakan Svedhem was participating in this demanding competition for the first time. He finished 18th, but he too managed to improve his score in every round of the tournament.

The top three players kept their scores very close. Heading into the final round on Sunday afternoon, the gap between first and second place was just one stroke.
Ultimately, Paul McNamara won the three-round event with an impressive total of 197 strokes. Vincent Regis finished second, trailing by just four strokes with a total of 201. David Binns took third place with 208 strokes.

The medal competition was won by Graeme Mason. With a good 179
Upon final calculation, it turned out that Vincent Regis had 1 point less than Rafael Lucas, securing him second place (180). Rafael Lucas finished third with 181.
